About
The John A. Weir Law Library supports the study, research interests, and legal research needs of the Faculty of Law and members of the University and broader community and offers research instruction and consultations. The library’s extensive research collection focuses on primary and secondary materials from the common law Anglo-American jurisdictions. It consists largely of English language material, with some French language material from Quebec. Selected materials have been collected from the European Union and Pacific Rim countries. There is an emphasis on common law, but civil law materials for Quebec, Scotland, and Louisiana, have also been collected. The Library also houses a government documents collection of Canadian Federal and provincial government documents that include parliamentary, legislative and departmental materials, and administrative decisions. The library’s resources can be found online and at the Law Library, located on the second and third floors of the Law Centre.
